BIOGRAPHY

After graduating Psychology and Pedagogy, Bogdanova became interested in film production, and went on to earn a degree in Film and Television Producing from the New York Film Academy and producing her debut short film.

After working in event management, entertainment, advertising and PR during her years of education, and a brief time working as a line producer for a major Russian film production company, Bogdanova became an independent producer in 2014. Her company KINOKULT P.C. not only produces and co-produces documentary and feature films, it actively supports and promotes young independent Russian filmmakers domestically and abroad.

In early 2019, with the support of Moscow's KARO. Art project and October Film Center, Bogdanova launched her company's own New Cinema project: regular screenings of short films by Russian and CIS filmmakers that participated in international film festivals, followed by Q&A sessions with their authors and film industry professionals.

Participant of Karlovy Vary IFF WIP (2019), Les Arcs Industry Village (2019), Producers Network (2019-2021), Key Byers Event (2021), Baltic Event co-production markets (2021).
